

Future of Growth Perspective through Investment

An Econometric Case Study of Bangladesh

Chowdhury Amir Abdullah

September 9, 2020

University of Dhaka

- Developed vs Developing World
- Unskilled vs Skilled
- Bangladesh and Manufacturing
- Premature Deindustrialization
- Lack of Investment

Literature Review

1. Lewis, 1954
 - Expansion of non agro sector
 - Constant agricultural output
2. Solow, 1956
 - Savings and investment incentives
 - Liberalization of the market
3. Aghion & Howitt, 1992
 - Diversifying the economy
 - Sustained growth in the long run
4. Acemoglu, Johnson, & Robinson, 2001
 - Institutional capabilities
 - Growth in different modern sectors

Objectives

1. Investment and manufacturing
2. Long-run co-integration
3. Context of Bangladesh

1. International Financial Statistics (IFS)
 2. Direction of Trade Statistics (DOTS) of the International Monetary Fund (IMF)
 3. World Development Indicators (WDI) database of World Bank (WB)
- # Time series data from 1980 to 2016 (Annual)